PLUSH OR CUT-PILE  Loops trimmed off with yarn bundles standing straight up. Repeated pre-shearing creates a luxurious appearance. A great ‘whole house’ carpet, medium durability. Popular varieties include saxony plush: short, densely packed tufts; textured plush: decoratively versatile, textured surface helps hide footprints and vacuum marks; velvet plush: lightly twisted cut-piles with a uniform color and luxurious appearance that’s ideal for formal areas.

BERBER LOOP-PILE  High, closed level loops stand upright, creating a nubby, rugged texture that looks natural and handcrafted. Tight loop texture helps hide foot and vacuum marks. Uncut loops tend to wear better than cut-pile.

BERBER CUT-PILE  Newer berber look with color and interest of traditional loop berbers and the great plush feel of thick, cut-pile carpet. Very versatile. Ideal for casual rooms and kids rooms. Subtle color flecks help hide soil.

CUT-&-LOOP PILE  combined cut and looped fibers provide a variety of surface textures or carved/sculptured effects for medium durability. Multiple colors and levels hide dirt and footprints in formal or informal areas. Also available in solid colors.

COMMERCIAL LOOP  Versatile styles in a durable, long-wearing surface pile engineered for high-traffic areas. Captivating color choices and textured surfaces suitable for professional and practical installations.
Fiber Types

SYNTHETIC FIBERS

NYLON  Considered the most versatile fiber. Durable, excellent soil resistance, less costly than wool but one of the most expensive of synthetics. Can be damaged by prolonged exposure to sunlight.

POLYESTER  Softer, slightly less durable, and less expensive than nylon. The softer fiber accepts dyes well, making brilliant colors possible. Stain resistance superior to other, more popular fibers.

POLYPROPYLENE (OLEFIN)  Extremely durable, colorfast, absorbs no moisture, with superior stain resistance. Ideal for loop pile carpets, also made into ribbon-type yarn used in outdoor carpet. Low cost, limited colors.

ACRYLIC  Resembles wool more than other synthetic fibers and resists fading.

NATURAL FIBERS

WOOL  Comfortable, durable, naturally beautiful, and generally considered the 'ultimate' fiber. Soil-resistant, but set-in stains may be difficult to remove. More expensive than synthetics.

SISAL  Made from fiber derived from the agave plant. Stronger and more durable than other natural fibers, earthy and rough-textured like jute. Sisal carpets usually contain jute, hemp, sea grass, and coconut fibers.

SEA GRASS  Adds a wonderful natural look and feel to any room. Can be damaged by chemicals and is susceptible to mold and insects.

COIR  Extracted from the husks of coconuts, coir is one of the most environmentally-friendly fibers. Tough, hardwearing, and versatile, with natural aesthetic appeal. Rich and bold textures. Often blended with sisal.
Carpet cushion extends the life of your carpet. By reducing pile-height loss and pile crushing, carpet cushion can help keep a carpet looking new and thereby stretch its usable life span. In addition, cushion imparts resiliency and resistance to pressure, which contribute to a carpet’s feeling of luxury. And with cushion, it is possible to select the degree of luxury or firmness of tread you desire.

Most are available in varying weights, densities, and thicknesses to accommodate your desired feeling underfoot and level of traffic.

Types of Carpet Cushion

FOAM

PRIME Similar to the type of cushion used in furniture, mattresses, and car seats; recommended for light to moderate traffic.

BONDED OR REBONDED Made from recycled foam; most often features a surface net for easy installation and improved performance.

RUBBER

WAFFLED A soft, resilient cushion with a luxurious feel.

FLAT A firm, dense cushion often used in large commercial applications and with loop carpet.
